

STRIKE OF THE WIRED.
So Far It Seems to Have Intercepted Little, but Very Little.

The Electrical Contractors' Association held a secret meeting yesterday afternoon at the Building Trades Club, 117 East Twenty-third street, to consider what concerted step to take about the strike of the electric wiremen. All the members of the association were present. The result of the secret meeting of the United Building Trades, held the day previous, was to reiterate its promise to support the contractors in the fight, and it is understood that if necessary a general lockout will be declared. None of those present would give the particular details of what had taken place, but the following statement was issued:

"At a meeting of the Electrical Contractors' Association, held yesterday afternoon, it was decided that only 232 wiremen were out on strike, they also report that about one hundred and ten men have quit without notice, and had assurance that it necessary the United Building Trades would do all in their power to guarantee their tradesmen's present strike."

No member reported a general strike, and no building trade body has yet voted to order a strike.

Secretary Charles L. Hiltz of the Electrical Contractors' Association said that the different contractors who had been called together had agreed to make no strike, but that the wiremen were returning to work.

He pointed to lists of names on which the names of strikers who had returned to work were printed.
